SUMMARY
AB 353 authorizes employers to establish a voluntary veteran preference when hiring. The bill expands upon current state law which gives Vietnam War era veterans preference during the hiring process. AB 353 would open that preference to all veterans, regardless of when they served. Similar laws have been enacted in 37 states across the country.

ANALYSIS
Under the California Fair Employment and Housing Act, employers are authorized to use one’s veteran status as a factor in employee selection and are currently able to give special consideration to Vietnam War era veterans.

AB 353 bill seeks to expand upon a relatively outdated and narrow law, and seeks to make it easier for veterans to become employed in the civilian world. Veteran and military support with an emphasis on veteran hiring remains one of the Chamber’s priorities. With approximately 2 million veterans residing in the state of California, it is crucial that businesses are afforded the opportunity to have a veteran preference system in place.
