

Claudia Escala, Principal

carrier johnson + CULTURE

A native of Peru, Ms. Escala completed her undergraduate work in architecture at Universidad Ricardo Palma in Lima, then went on to pursue a Master of Architecture in her post-graduate work at University of California – San Diego. Ms. Escala is a registered architect in California and Principal at global architecture, interiors, and branding leader Carrier Johnson + CULTURE. She has over 20 years of experience in the design and project management of major architectural and planning projects with a focus on high end multifamily residential and urban mixed use developments. Ms. Escala moved from the suburbs to San Diego’s East Village in 2005 with her husband and two children to become involved in the emerging multifamily housing boom. She volunteered representing her neighborhood for six years as member of the Downtown Community Planning Council chairing the Pre Design Subcommittee and serving as Vice Chair for two years. At the San Diego Regional Chamber in 2019 Ms. Escala participated in the Infrastructure, Housing and Land Use Committee as Vice Chair.